

Category: 2.9. Wing mating

Published: Wednesday, 18 November 2020 12:26

Hits: 813

---

As I'm leaving on holiday for some weeks, it's gonna be to dangerous to keep the airplane sitting outside all the time.

A week ago we had a thunderstorm with hail coming by and it completely freaked me out. I covered the whole airplane with blankets to avoid the risks of getting dents.

Moved the airplane back into the workshop but before that, I couldn't resist making some final shots. It might take a while before I see it like this again.

